

Whitening treatments are not recommended for those with the following conditions:

- Allergies to peroxides or glycerin
- Existing tooth decay or gum disease
- Photosensitivity
- Pregnant or breast feeding
- Under 14 years of age
- Silver fillings in the front teeth
- Braces removed within the last 2 months
- Tooth extractions within the last 28 days
- Additional conditions may be revealed on exam

Things to consider:

You can only whiten as much as your genetic traits will allow.

People with healthy teeth and gums who have yellowish stains get the best results.

People with minimal discoloration may not notice a substantial degree of whitening.

Individual results may vary
